WITH GEN. SMITH

Word From the First California, on Negros Isle.

ARE IN A FAIR PLACE

Call the Station a Paradise—The People Rather Outlandish—
Some Interesting Service.

(Manila Freedom.)
On the 23rd of March Father Doyle left for Negros with the 2nd battalion of California Infantry, under Col. Duboce. He returned Tuesday per Butuan, and reports that tranquillity reigns in the south islands. The California Loys are stationed as follows:

2 Companies, Bacolod.
2 Companies, Jima-mallan.
4 Companies, La Carlota.

The 2nd battalion after stopping at Hilo proceeded to San Enrique, Negros, whence it was transported by tramway to La Carlota. Col. Duboce is in command at this place.

The natives are peaceful and friendly and order and discipline prevails. Each town continues to be governed by the local officials, who always confer with Col. Smith regarding local affairs.

The natives resemble the Filipinos in looks, manners and customs, but their language is Visayan, a Malay dialect not understood by the Tagalos. There is a financial Mahomedan leader in the mountain district who is doing business as a God. He is known as Papa Ielo and he has about a thousand villainous cut-throats with him who rob, plunder and murder the peaceful natives. Not long since the head official of Jima-mallan, a town 20 miles from Bacolod, sent ten native citizens to endeavor to arrange a truce with the would be deity. While the envoys were conversing with him, they were set upon and slaughtered by the outlaws, but one escaping.

Word was at once sent to Col. Smith, and Co. A. Capt. Jno. T. Connolly, and Co. E. Capt. Wm. T. Robertson under the command of Major Hugh J. Sime were at once despatched to Jima-mallan. At 3 o'clock the next morning this little detachment, having native guides plunged into the dense tropical forest, and started for the mountain fastness of the marauding fanatic. These two companies might easily have been ambushed and the whole of America horror stricken. But a kind providence prevented such a dreadful ending and at day light the twelve miles of jungle trail were traversed, and the neighborhood of Ielo found deserted. Probably the known prowess of the American soldiers saved them from annihilation. Father Doyle heroically accompanied this expedition and he expected serious trouble before its work was completed.

The bandit had a natural fortress surrounded by a morass, approachable by only one path. The graves of the native peace commission were found but of the outlaws nothing could be seen. Their spies had given warning and the band had retreated into the higher mountain fastnesses.

Father Doyle says that the soldiers are making an enviable record, and are on the most friendly terms with the natives. Col. Smith is preparing a provisional constitution, and maintaining perfect order. The better class of natives are ready to accept any form of government that may be offered, as they recognize the fact that the United States in any event will treat them humanely and that the fullest measure of self government consistent with circumstances will be allowed. The soldiers are in excellent health. Most delicious sea bathing is at hand. Tropical fruits abundant. The island is a typical tropical land. It is a Paradise, and fulfills one's idea as to what an ideal land should be. The climate is delightful, cool breezes prevailing. The richness of the land cannot be described: the entire island is like a garden. As the boys marched out in the dim light of dawn towards the lair of the mountain robber, they thought they were passing through luxuriant and highly cultivated gardens. Dawn revealed the fact that they were in the midst of a virgin forest and mother Nature was the only gardener. Grasses as high as the shoulders, graceful palms, cocoa groves, banana trees and a variety of tropical fruits were growing in the utmost profusion.

The principal agricultural product is sugar. The land is mostly owned in large tracts by Spaniards who are willing to lease the same. At present the sugar industry is in a demoralized condition, and little is being accomplished. Now is the time for American brains, enterprise and capital. Untold fortunes are awaiting growers on Negros.

THE GENTLE FILIPINO.

On Monday evening, April 10th, says the Manila Freedom, as Lieut. A. Young of Company A, Second Oregon, was sitting on the bank of a stream, just outside of Maralon engaged in bathing his tired feet, a Filipino officer crept up to a clump of trees back of the officer and aimed point blank for his neck. Luckily for Lieut. Young, the bullet passed over his shoulder and struck his big toe, carrying a small portion of it into the stream.

The plucky officer sprang to his feet and began emptying his revolver at the now fleeing native, who escaped across the river, but not until he had dropped his belt and some of his military trappings.

TRUE SENTIMENT.

Volunteers Not Yearning to Remain Abroad.

(Manila Freedom.)

Some volunteers have protested at this office against a statement in a contemporary to the effect that a large number of them wished to remain in the Philippines. The volunteers are ready to do their duty, and they are doing it nobly and bravely. But a large number do not wish to stay in these islands. A few miners and prospectors, some frontiersmen and some seeking adventure, joined the volunteer regiments for the purpose of remaining in this country. A few are willing to transfer to the regular branch if sufficient inducements are held out. But seventy-five per cent of the volunteers have family ties and business interests at home that demand their presence at the earliest possible moment.

THE BREW OF OLYMPUS.

THE "HOFFMAN," corner of Hotel and Nuuanu streets, claims to be the "Banner" resort for gentlemen and holds the flag. L. H. Dee, the proprietor, has attained success in his line, by specially and personally supervising everything connected with his establishment. He now introduces to his patrons "Olympia Beer." This brew is from the "Capital Brewing Co." of Olympia, the capital of the State of Washington, and was received by the "Garonne." Mr. Schmitt, the leading spirit of this corporation, is a practical Chemist and Brewer, and after years of search and investigation located his plant at Olympia, on account of the peculiar virtues of the water of the Tum Falls, a stream that is noted for its distinctive qualities of clearness, coldness and lack of mineral and decaying vegetable impurities. Pure beer can only be made with pure water, and Tum water is traditional in Washington with the Indians and original white settlers. The "Olympia Draught" is under the special control and agency of Mr. Dee and he invites his patrons and friends to a personal test and is willing to abide by their judgment on the merits of his latest venture.

A Model Plant is not complete without Electric Power, thus dispensing with small engines.

Why not generate your power from one CENTRAL Station? One generator can furnish power to your Pump, Centrifugals, Elevators, Pumps, Railways and Hoists; also, furnish light and power for a radius of from 15 to 30 miles.

Electric Power being used, saves the labor of hauling coal to your field, also water, and goes away with high-priced engineers, and only have one engine to look after in your mill.

Where water power is available it costs nothing to generate Electric Power.

THE HAWAIIAN ELECTRIC COMPANY is now ready to furnish Electric Plants and Generators of all descriptions at short notice, and also has on hand a large stock of Wire, Chandeliers and Electrical Goods.

All orders will be given prompt attention, and estimates furnished for Lighting and Power Plants; also, attention is given to House and Marine Wiring.
